School's draft budget includes 3% increase

Charlotte Smith
Editor

Fulton County Schools Superintendent Aaron Collins introduced financial consultant Gail Bender to the board during the Fulton County School Board meeting on Thursday, Jan. 16. "Gail Bender is working with us as a financial consultant and she has provided us with a lot of assistance in a short period of time. She has done a wonderful job." Bender will be assisting the financial team at Fulton County Schools for the next few months.

While a forensic audit is being performed by a team at Alexander Thompson and Arnold (ATA) a draft budget still needs to be presented to the board. "The budget is a draft budget that is required by Kentucky Department of Education (KDE)," stated Supt. Collins. "At Thursday night's meeting, we did not have a starting point for the budget as we did not have a cash balance from the 2012-13 fiscal year as Jason Anderson from ATA and his team are diligently working on that number."

Without a current ending balance, the decision was made to work off the ending balance of the 2011-12 figures to create a draft budget.

"With the 2014-15 draft budget, we set aside a 3% raise for certified faculty and added money to the "property" account to allow for future projects such as a field house that would also have a concession stand and bathrooms that would support football, baseball, softball and track and field," continued Supt. Collins. "The budget also took into consideration that the board would accept the School Facilities Construction Commission (FSCC) offer from the state and allow us bonding potential of approximately 2.7 million dollars."

The forensic audit should be completed by January 31. "ATA was in our office today (Jan. 16) working on that audit," noted Supt. Collins.

The school was granted an extension by KDE for the submission of the 2012-13 fiscal audit by February 15. The fiscal audit will provide the board with a cash balance.

Another review of the budget is planned for March, which will give a more concise picture of any major cuts that might need to be made to personnel.

Carpenters for Christ coming to help build West Hickman Baptist Church in June

Charlotte Smith
Editor

When West Hickman Baptist Church (WHBC) went up in flames in January 2013 some might think the members of the church would be derailed. This has not been the case. In June a group of approximately 100 to 150 men from Carpenters for Christ will be in Hickman assisting with the building of a new church for WHBC.

WHBC member Carol Williams made the initial contact with Carpenters for Christ through her uncle, Wayne Solomon of Paducah. "Wayne is a member of Carpenters for Christ," added WHBC Building Committee Chairman Tim Langford. "At Carol's suggestion, Mr. Solomon was contacted and through him we were able to get in touch with Perry Lee who headed up the exploratory team that came to Hickman during the first week of January to investigate the possibility of partnering with us."

The membership at WHBC has increased as Bro. Jason Sipes and other associated with the church continue to worship and meet in various locations throughout Hickman. Fulton County Schools, First United Methodist Church, First Baptist Church and others have opened up their doors to them, providing them with alternative places to hold weekly services, Vacation Bible School and their annual Christmas program.

Needing more acreage to add a Life Enrichment Center and additional parking, a new location out on ByPass 1099 was acquired. Dirt work, performed in late 2013, was provided by Coffey Construction.

The Life Enrichment Center, a metal structure, will be built first. The metal has been ordered and the church is waiting on the plans to proceed with the construction of the facility. "We plan to begin working on the center first," stated Tom Pyron. Pyron has been chosen to be the project manager.

Pyron, recently retired, was the former Fulton County Area Technology Center Principal and Carpentry teacher. He is also very much involved with Habitat for Humanity. "I am very excited and honored that West Hickman has chosen me to oversee the building of their new church and life enrichment center," Pyron said. "I have been impressed with how they have been able to keep on strong, even after their church burned down. It is amazing to see how members of the community have stepped up to assist them."

Langford reiterated what Pyron said. "We have been amazed to see how God has worked to bring this project together. Even though results aren't visible yet, a lot of time and effort has been invested to get to this point."

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION - On Sunday, Jan. 19, 2014, Rush Creek United Methodist Church hosted Miss Agnes Sublette's (seated) surprise birthday party after morning services. She and her guests enjoyed a tasty BBQ spread before the cake and ice cream came out. Family members and friends, old and new, enjoyed fellowship and food on a bright beautiful winter day. Lewis Atwill and Sue Bransford McClellan, two of her childhood neighbors, were among the gathering, as was Thora Bransford who joined the community by marriage. Church members are beginning a year-long effort to collect donations for local food banks, in honor of her long years of community service and concerns. Small act yields big result at Liberty Baptist VBS

Editor

Liberty Baptist Church is proof positive that big things can be accomplished with small acts. Back in June 2013, the church held their annual Vacation Bible School (VBS) with a Jungle Jaunt adventure theme. With an average of 10 students attending church on a regular basis, those associated with VBS were excited to have 33 students enrolled for jungle adventure.

During the four-day VBS, the ministry brought in $335.95. "Since we were holding VBS with an Amazon jungle theme and after I received a mailing from In Touch ministries about the Messengers and the Ticuna people in the mountains of Brazil, we decided to use the funds collected for that cause," explained Jeanne Cole. "The children's offering was just under $350 and with the Messengers cost $35 each, the church made up the difference to help purchase 10 Messengers for the Ticuna people."

Cole adds that a brief letter explaining how the funds were collected was submitted with their donation. "We did receive a very nice reply addressed to the children," she said.

Now, approximately six months later, the VBS children

A WALK WITH THEE - Many young children walked during the annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. march held on Monday, Jan. 20. The procession began at Johnson Chapel Missionary Baptist Church and traveled to Thomas Chapel C.M.E. Church just before dark. Rev. Kimberly Traylor and Rev. Steven Turner led the way with Bro. James Roberson and Richard Holloway right behind them as the group sang "A Walk With Thee" as they marched. A service followed at Thomas Chapel. (Photo by Charlotte Smith.)

Heuck, a three-year employee of Insteel Wire Products officially accepted the position of General Manager for Insteel on January 5. He has been interim plant manager since October.

Heuck moved through the ranks at Insteel, first filling the role of shipping manager in January 2011 before becoming the purchasing manager and the general manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Joiner celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on April 20.

Fulton County Sheriff Nelson D. “Corky” Hill arrested Gary Payne, 32, of Cayce at around 12:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 26, and lodged him in the detention center.

Future Homemakers of America from Fulton County High School attended the 44th Annual State meeting held at the Galt House in Louisville April 20-22. Among the 1,300 members and advisers were: Missy Argo, Dana Craddock, Cindy Everett, Andrea Lynch, Leigh Lewis, Jason Adams, Mary Carol Harris, Judy Kelso and Carole Lattus.

Pictured: Don R. Adams and Gerald Roper are shown while discussing recruitment of a few good Rebels for the Confederate Army in this area. This recruitment is in keeping with plans to form a “Skirmish” team in the Hickman area and to schedule a “Skirmish match,” which will hopefully become an annual event. This type of program would provide entertainment for the entire family plus bringing in numerous people to the community for a week-end. Adams is commander of the fourth Tenn. Inf. Co. Louis and Lawrence Lattus and Tommy Cissell have returned home to Pamona, Calif. after a four-week visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lattus and family.

Clearance of Southern Bell’s new dial telephone building site in Fulton was started Monday. When completed, the new building at 310 East State Line will house new dial equipment that will enable Fulton County subscribers to dial their own long distance calls. The new system is slated to be in operation about the middle of next year and the entire cost (land, building, and new equipment) is estimated at $ 1,550,000.

The construction season has arrived for the Army Corps of Engineers engaged in channel stabilization work along the Mississippi. The bank grading unit of the Memphis Engineer Districts revetment fleet., Party No. 11, is already hard at work grading caving riverbanks at Little Cypree, Mo., river miles 870.

At a meeting of the city council held August 6, and presided over by Mayor Cowgill, a check for $25 for six months salary as cemetery superintendent was issued to Thos. Dillon, Sr., the county authorities were given permission to use the city hall as a voting place for all elections; and T.F. Wilburn was awarded the contract for ventilating the city hall with the lowest bid of $45.

On Wednesday morning the grocery store of J.C. Partlow was discovered on fire, which soon spread to the roller flour mill and thence to the adjoining blacksmith shop and residence of J.T. Gray, all of which were entirely consumed by fire. The fire originated in the upper room of the grocery store where some Roman candles were stored. The saddest part of the story however, is that Mr. Partlow’s little three-year-old, daughter, Jessie, was lost in the fire. She followed her father into the store and was never seen alive again. It is thought that, in her fright, she hid herself behind some boxes and barrels and perished there.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Once again hard-working Kentuckians are being offered a “sucker bet.”
Remember “The lottery will solve our state’s financial problems”? Now we hear “Expanded gaming (Read: casinos) will solve Kentucky’s financial problems!”
Just ask Illinois. They have a boat on almost every river except the Big Muddy, and the Governor is begging for higher taxes to solve their fiscal crisis.
How much of the money taken from the pockets of hard-working people goes into education, and how much goes into secret overseas bank accounts of people who are already billionaires? Make no mistake: you can’t beg, borrow, or bet yourself rich.
More gambling will solve our fiscal woes? Don’t bet on it!

Senior Spirit

By Glenda Cochrum

On Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the Hickman Senior Citizens Center, Mrs. Anna McCoy, the UK Extension Nutritionist, discussed several ways on how to use your slow cooker to eat right.

A slow cooker is ideal for making stews and lots of other healthy meals by using less oil, no oil, or fats.

The slow cooker is a device that has a glazed ceramic container or crock, which is housed in an outer metal casing. It is also known most commonly as a crock-pot. It comes in a variety of sizes from one and a half quart up to a seven quart capacity.

As with any fine ceramic container the stoneware bowl will not stand the shock of sudden temperature changes. Always wash the slow cooker immediately after cooking using hot water.

Always remember to wash your hands, counters and all others surfaces to prevent cross contamination and the spread of germs. Always keep all your foods refrigerated until your preparation time.

Slow cooking sense – This is an energy efficient appliance designed to make life easier and more convenient by using shorter prep time to make your meals.

Slow cooking safety - Cooking at a low temperature up to 200°F and with cooking times up to 10 hours or cooking on high with temperatures 300°F or above for only an hour or so are both safe options when using a crock-pot

Meat Safety - Use chunks or pieces instead of a whole chicken or roast. Always use fresh or thawed meats – not frozen.

Knowing when meat is done – Stick a meat thermometer in the middle and check the temperature on top of the thermometer using guidelines for various meat types.

Slow cooker cooking tips – Always use a cooking spray (nonstick). Brown meats a head of time to reduce fat and add flavor, trim fat off before hand. Cut roots off the vegetables and put them on the bottom or sides,

Ms. Cookie looks to increase breakfast participation at school despite changes in the federal guidelines

Charlotte Smith
Editor

Balancing nutrition along with physical activity goes hand in hand when promoting a healthy and safe learning environment for the students of Fulton County Schools. Delores Giles, otherwise known affectionately as Ms. Cookie, meticulously and lovingly plans the meals for the students and has been dealing with federal and state regulations for four years now and with Nutrition Services.

In conjunction with the Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010 additional regulations are being implemented changing the types of foods now being served to children during breakfast and lunch. “Whole grains and less sodium are two major areas of focus right now,” stated Ms. Cookie.

“One example is less protein and more whole-grains.”

This means less meat and other proteins are being served at breakfast. “This has affected our breakfast crowd,” she said. “One of my goals in the coming year is to increase our breakfast participation numbers.”

Known for her attention to detail, Ms. Cookie recently checked out the label of the green beans now being served at Fulton County Schools. “The sodium count has gone down from 380 to 140,” Ms. Cookie stated. “This hasn’t stopped the kids from eating the green beans.”

Many of the products, which will be served to school-aged children, are being formulated reducing salt. This goes along with the types of foods that schools are allowed to serve.

For example, by July 1, 2022, depending on the age/grade of the child, the sodium levels will be dramatically reduced for both breakfast and lunch. In 2014 for K-5 the number is 540 and by 2022 it will be another 110 points less, at 430. A lunch served to students in grades 6-8 will be at 1,360 grams in 2014 and has a final target amount of 710.

Some schools have changed from serving pizza sticks with marina sauce, banana, raisins, and whole milk and lunch might now consist of chef salad, cooked corn, raw baby carrots, banana, skim milk, low fat ranch dressing and low fat Italian dressing. Ms. Cookie said that she can still serve pizza sticks if she doesn’t go over the calorie range and if they are whole grain, and the milk is fat free or 1%.

Some of these changes are subtle enough that the children might not even notice it, but some of them are expensive. The new standards are expected to cost $3.2 billion over the next five years -- less than half of the estimated cost of the proposed rule and are just one of five major components of the Healthy Hunger Free Kids Act.

The standards are trying to incorporate practical changes that many parents might already be encouraging their children to eat at home. They include:

- Ensuring students are offered both fruits and vegetables every day of the week

- Substantially increasing offerings of whole grain-rich foods

- Offering only fat-free or low-fat milk varieties

Another is limiting the calories based on the age of the child. “We have calorie guidelines to follow,” stated Ms. Cookie. These calorie guidelines include:

- Grades K-5: 550-650/weekly average
- Grades 6-8: 600-700/weekly average

Sports In Kentucky

For the Hickman Courier

By Bob Watkins

Never, never be afraid to do what’s right, especially if well-being of a person or animal is at stake.

Society’s punishments are small compared to wounds we inflict on our soul when we look the other way.

Doctor King’s words resonate still. And, all the way to my profession.

Sports writers and broadcasters today have become fans, competing with bloggers and Eye Candy holding forth at ESPN. Dance tune? Money. Who has it, who’s demanding more, who’s the next kid who’s going to get it and how soon. Education be damned and ball coaches shop for bigger jobs. Short of a now-and-then Who’s Your Daddy from Sports Illustrated in 1999 and an occasional 30 for 30 on ESPN, talking heads are cool and imitation-worthy for local markets.

Last week, the word Omaha became the rage. Peyton Manning used the word in line-of-scrimmage cadence 31 times against the Patriots. Everyone was impressed. Word out of Manning’s mouth raised $24,800 for his foundation. Noble undertaking, but a Pandora’s Box precedent.

What do fans think? Well, business is business, man. Just look the other way.

Closer to home in Kentucky...

Coaches. Believed-to-be honorable men affix their names to five-six year contracts, then bolt for more money and higher place on the pole. Many sports media stand admiring the ballet which is Process – guesses, clandestine meetings, rumors, flirtations, then blanket denials, then presto: A ball coach introductory press conference. The speed of Process is a fascination.

Charlie Strong, one year into an eight-year contract, left. Story line? Louisville’s Tom Jurich became media darling for his skill and daring to rob a serial job jumper from another school.

Contract? What contract? Strong and Bobby Petrino neither answered to his fans (in Louisville or Bowling Green).

The job jump at Louisville was shamefully arrogant, but not exceptional. More shameful was that media marveled at Strong’s the Jurich’s process; then a Biblical spin – prodigal-son-come-home, accorded Petrino. His contrition was redemptive enough to look the other way.

On Strong’s blatant defection and Petrino’s rehabilitation, UofL president James Ramsey deferred to tail that wags this dog, Jurich. And why not, man’s a maestro with spin.

Fans? Those who buy tickets deserved a report on Strong’s penalty pay, how much and when UofL is compensated and what happens to the money. And details on Petrino’s deal, incentives to behave.

Petrino and Western? Likelihood of this ball coach facing Hiltopper fans being accountable on principle were laughably remote.

Lexington area?

Talk shows on in, sports journalism around University of Kentucky is pep rally and dog-and-pony show (UK officials call it Media Opportunity). Questions? I no longer attend, but from transcripts I see, they range from “Hey Cal, how good do you feel about Julius’s cramp issues?” to “Cal, is this team improving to your expectations?”

Maybe fans might like to know: “How was it Arkansas was able to make a team infinite-west Tennessee.

The Lady Pilots battled with the Lady Comets for three quarters, but faltered in the final period.

Carlisle County used the offensive strength of Laken Sams and Heaven Hooper to stretch a 15-7 first quarter lead to a 25-17 halftime advantage.

Coach Leonard Smith’s team rallied to cut the score to 27-24, with 2:16 in the third quarter, when Yashema Kimble connected on a 3-point shot.

The Lady Pilots trailed at the end of period 32-26.

Hoping to catch the Comets in the fourth quarter, the Lady Pilots saw themselves being outscored 12-7, as they fell to (0-3) in the district.

Delraysha Alexander led Fulton County with 13 points in the game.

Also scoring for the Lady Pilots was Leslie Beth Jackson 6, Yashema Kimble 5, KyLira Williams 4, Leah Weatherly 3 and AnnaGregory Grissom 2.

Laken Sams led all scorers with 18 points, followed by Heaven Hopper with 14.

The Lady Tide took complete control of this game early, and dominated in the 26 point win.

An aggressive defensive, following the game: “That was the most fun I’ve had in a game in my life,” he told reporters.

Comment: When’s last time a player at Kentucky or Louisville said as much?

NEWS. More frequently these days Western Kentucky’s Hilltoppers’ point guard duties are going to newcomer Chris Harrison-Docks VIEW. My candidate for college newcomer of year in Kentucky, Chris Harrison-Docks is a hard-nosed and gritty kid can’t shoot like his dad did at Tollesboro, but he’s got game and is an excellent fit. A freshman, Harrison-Docks is another “who knew” kid who should have signed at Western Kentucky, instead of Butler, in the first place.

NEWS.Last week, an internet site offered a list of college studs who project to be NBA duds, included: Tennessee junior Jarnell Stokes and North Carolina’s James Michael McAdoo.

An underclassman playing himself onto this list or another year in college? Willie Cauley-Stein at Kentucky.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.

Following Eastern Kentucky’s win over Belmont last week, guard Corey Walden said: “That was the most fun I’ve had in a game in my life.” And so it goes.

at Liberty Baptist Church are learning just how amazing God is using their offering. "An indigenous missionary and a seaplane pilot were able to fly the Messengers into the Ticuna people," Cole explained. "We have learned that many were saved and now they have a church of 150 members." Some of the members of the first church have already been sent out to start a second church.

A Messenger is is a hand-held audio device powered by solar energy, providing groundbreaking opportunities for Christians to deliver biblical teachings by offering complete content in two languages instead of one. This is ideal for vast regions of the world where two languages are commonly spoken, especially since the listener can switch from one language to the other at the touch of a button.

Messengers require no batteries or electricity and arrive loaded with the books of Psalms, Proverbs, the entire New Testament and 65 sermons. What is particularly exciting is the development of how the Messengers are reaching illiterate communities and church members, VBS workers, and students gathering information for the article.

An additional article will be published in June based on an interview with the children. "Some time in early spring, possibly March, Amy will return for four days with a filming crew to film a re-enactment of the worship service at VBS as well as our Sunday worship service," Cole said excitedly. "We have been touring Fulton for possible filming locations."

The original letter that Cole sent with the offering has been included as a part of the Messengers ministry, reaching millions of households around the world. "I'm still in shock and totally amazed how God is using that little offering to reach so many for His glory," concluded Cole.

Currently, the Messenger is available in 12 languages, including Mandarin, Arabic, Spanish, Hindi, and Russian. More languages are coming, with particular attention being paid to tribal languages and those of unreached people groups.

sponding with us about telling our story," Cole said.

So much were they touched by the awesome affect of their donation and what chain of events it has sparked that managing editor of In Touch magazine Jamie Hughes and supervising producer for their broadcast Amy Kossover spent a few days last week with

There’s still time to sign up for health insurance coverage

Parkway Regional Hospital can help

If you’re uninsured, there’s still time to sign up for health insurance on the Health Insurance Marketplace and avoid the penalty. The Affordable Care Act requires that most Americans obtain health insurance by 2014 or pay a tax penalty. The penalty will be applied to your annual taxable income for each month you don’t have health insurance after March 31, 2014, the last day to enroll. Based on household income and dependents, you may be eligible for health insurance coverage at no cost through Medicaid. Or, you may be eligible for new health insurance on the Health Insurance Marketplace – and financial help from the government towards the cost of premiums may be available. “This is where Parkway Regional Hospital can help the uninsured in our community,” said John Ballard, CEO. “With many people lacking access to a computer or just needing help maneuvering through the enrollment website, our application counselor can help. We can assist individuals and their families evaluate the available health plans and determine if they’re eligible for Medicaid or other insurance options.” To make an appointment for sign-up help, call (270) 472-8111 or 1-800-353-1380.

Health Plans on Health Insurance Marketplaces
All health plans on the Marketplace must offer a comprehensive set of benefits, and individuals cannot be denied coverage based on a pre-existing condition. Some of the available health benefits include preventive care and wellness services, doctor visits, prescription drugs, hospital and emergency department care, lab services, pediatric services – and more. Medicaid Expansion

Kentucky has chosen to expand Medicaid coverage beginning January 2014. This expansion will increase eligibility limits for adults to 138 percent of the Federal Poverty Income Level (equivalent to an annual income of about $15,900 for one person). This will open Medicaid coverage to a new population, including childless adults.

“Even though Tennessee has chosen not to expand Medicaid, there are still many individuals in our community who qualify for Medicaid coverage,” explained Ballard. “We can help screen these individuals and if they qualify, we can enroll them at any time, with health coverage beginning immediately.”

NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that on January 17, 2014 Kentucky Utilities Company ("KU") filed an application with the Public Service Commission, Frankfort, Kentucky for approval of revisions in its Demand-Side-Management and Energy-Efficiency ("DSM/EE") program portfolio, as shown in KU's Adjustment Clause Demand-Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism ("DSMCRM") tariff and the resulting changes in its DSMCRM charges. In its application, KU notified the KPSC that the revised DSMCRM tariff sheets are proposed to become effective on and after February 16, 2014; however, because KU anticipates the Commission will suspend the proposed changes in the DSMCRM tariff to conduct an investigation of the proposed changes, KU has asked the Commission to approve the proposed changes in its DSM/EE program portfolio and resulting increases in the charges under the DSMCRM mechanism in its DSMCRM tariff to be effective on January 1, 2015.
The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio, if approved, will result in an increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism. The increase charges for all affected electric rate classes are as follows:
Residential Service Rate RS, Volunteer Fire Department Service Rate VFD, and Low Emission Vehicle Service Rate LEV
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00349	$ 0.00378	+ $ 0.00029	+ 8.3%
General Service Rate GS
Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change

Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00067	$ 0.00069	+ $ 0.00002	+ 3.0%

KU projects that the monthly bill impact of the new DSM/EE programs and program enhancements will be an increase of $0.29 per month for a KU residential electric customer using 1,000 kWh per month.

This tariff filing may be examined at the office of Kentucky Utilities Company, One Quality Street, Lexington, Kentucky, or on Kentucky Utilities Company's website at www.lge-ku.com.

This tariff filing may also be examined at the Commission's offices located at 211 Sower Boulevard, Frankfort, Kentucky, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or through the Commission's website at <http://psc.ky.gov>.

The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio and associated increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism contained in this notice are proposed by Kentucky Utilities Company. The Public Service Commission may order changes to KU's proposed DSM/EE program portfolio that may result in charges under the DSMCRM mechanism that differ from the proposed charges contained in this notice.

Land Between The Lakes Bison Auction set

Land Between The Lakes (LBL) National Recreation Area has scheduled their annual Bison Auction for Saturday, Feb. 1, 2014, at the South Bison Range, just south of The Homeplace on Woodlands Trace National Scenic Byway in Tennessee.

The auction will begin at 9 a.m. Bid packages and viewing will be available at 8am that morning. Approximately 39 bison will be sold at this year's auction. Bison will be sold individually. An approximate list of animals will include: 6 cows (born 1994-1999), 1 large young bull (born 2011), 5 yearling heifers and 12 yearling bulls (born 2012), 7 heifer calves and 8 bull calves (born 2013). If heavy rain or snowfall prohibits an on-site auction, the auction will be moved across the road to The Homeplace picnic shelter.

Land Between The Lakes manages two herds of American Bison. Due to annual reproduction, there is a need to remove surplus bison from each herd. Thinning of the herd is necessary to sustain optimal habitat conditions and animal health.

Bison must be paid for in full on the day of the auction. All animals will be tested for TB and Brucellosis, and certified by a licensed veterinarian. Buyers have the option of vaccinating bison prior to loading by an on-site veterinarian for a small fee. Specific details regarding the age, sex, and weight of all animals to be sold may be obtained after January 27, by calling Curtis Fowler at 270-924-2061. A final list of sale animals will also be provided at sale time and will include weight, age, and sex for each respective bison.

Bison should be loaded by the buyers immediately following the auction. If loading or transport is not possible, purchasers may pick up their bison the following Monday. There will be a $20 per-animal service fee for holding bison after the sale date. Bison may not be loaded into open-top trailers. The Forest Service will assist the buyer in loading their bison, but once bison step off the loading chute and into the buyer's trailer, they become the property of the buyer and the Forest Service assumes no further responsibility for the animals.

January is National Birth Defects Prevention Month

More than 120,000 babies are born with a birth defect each year in the United States – 3,000 of which are born in Kentucky, according to the state Department for Public Health (DPH).

To help raise awareness of this issue and prevent future birth defects, the Kentucky Birth Surveillance Registry (KBSR) Program, which is housed in DPH, is partnering with the National Birth Defects Prevention Network this month to dispense educational information and promote public health resources.

"Most people are unaware of how common, costly and critical birth defects are in the United States, or that there are simple steps that can be taken to reduce them," said Monica Clouse, coordinator for KBSR. "Throughout the month of January, DPH will be focusing on raising awareness of this serious health issue among health care professionals, educators, social service professionals, and the general public to emphasize the high prevalence of birth defects and how to prevent them."

The risk for many types of birth defects can be reduced through healthy lifestyle choices and medical care before and during pregnancy.

"The health of both parents prior to pregnancy can affect the risk of having a child with a birth defect," said DPH Genetic Counselor, Joyce Robl. "Food intake, lifestyle choices, factors in the environment, health conditions and medications taken before and during pregnancy all can play a role in reducing or increasing the risk of birth defects."

Many different kinds of birth defects exist, including congenital heart defects; cleft lip or palate; defects of the brain and spine; defects of the bones, muscles and internal organs; and a variety of genetic syndromes such as Down syndrome. Some have only a minor and brief effect on a baby's health, while others have life-threatening or life-long effects, which can often be lessened by early detection and treatment.

Deadline is February 21 USDA's Farm and Ranch Lands Protection Program accepting applications for 2014 funding

USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Kentucky announced today that they will accept applications from entities for the Farm and Ranch Lands Protection Program (FRPP) through February 21, 2014. Applications submitted after this date will be held for the next funding consideration and ranking, likely in federal fiscal year 2015. NRCS does not accept applications directly from individual landowners for this program. Landowners must work through an approved entity to participate in FRPP.

NRCS administers the program that has protected more than 2 million acres of the nation's most valuable lands for the production of food, feed and fiber since 1996. In Kentucky, FRPP funds have helped purchase 191 conservation easements on over 32,000 acres and will help secure six more in the near future. Several of the protected farms have been of historical and/or archaeological importance including a civil war battlefield.

"In order to feed the increasing world population, we must ensure farmers have prime agricultural land available. FRPP easements ensure that productive farms are protected from development and will be kept in agricultural uses forever," said Assistant State Conservationist for Programs, Deena Wheby.

The amount available for this program in Kentucky for 2014 is approximately $1.7 million. This program provides matching funds to organizations to purchase conservation easements on private working lands.

Interested entities must complete information regarding the Kentucky 2014 FRPP funding and application process by visiting <http://www.nrcs.usda.gov/wps/portal/nrcs/main/ky/programs/easements/farmranch/>.

All applications for 2014 funding must be received by 4:30 PM on Friday, February 21, 2014. Detailed information on submitting the application can be found at the same web location.

For program related questions, contact Marcia Kelly, Resource Conservationist with NRCS in Kentucky at marcia.kelly@ky.usda.gov or by calling 859-224-7444.

Church

Carpenters for Christ will band together to construct as much of the church that they can in a mere 10 days. "Carpenters for Christ will bring a large group with them to help us build the church. They will help us frame the church, get it under roof and do whatever plumbing and brick work they can in the 10 days they are with us," explained Pyron. "Our goal is to have the church completed by Christmas of this year."

Langford, Pyron and others from WHBC are excited that Carpenters for Christ has chosen their project this year. "They only build one church a year," Pyron said. "We are so glad that they chose Hickman as their project for this year."

With this result, getting to this point might seem to have been easy on the outside looking in, but Langford said that a lot of behind the scenes work has taken place to get to this point. "The building committee and the church members have worked very well together to determine how to proceed," he said. "This has involved a lot of prayer and patience as we worked to find a way to fulfill the vision that we'd been given for this new building. God answered our prayers by sending Carpenters for Christ - 150 skilled men who are willing to donate 10 days of their considerable talents as carpenters, contractors and brick masons to help us make this vision a reality."

WHBC still has a lot of work to do as they make preparations for the arrival of Carpenters for Christ in June. Langford is confident with the support of this community and their sister churches that have encouraged and warmed their hearts, they will make it through the next phase, just as they helped them through the challenging year following the devastating fire.

"Although we look forward to having a building of our own in which to meet, again it is our heart's desire for this to be a real ministry for our community," Langford noted. We want this structure to be a useful tool in the hands of the Lord that will be a blessing to others and to His kingdom."

WHBC will provide laundry service and desserts while Carpenters for Christ are in Hickman working on the church structure. Those coming to Hickman to help construct a new WHBC will be staying in the gym of the Fulton County Middle School, thus showing once again how the community is lending its hand as WHBC rises from the ashes.

Pilots turn up heat; post two wins at home

Charles Choate
Courier Correspondent

The Fulton County Pilots ran their winning streak to three straight games, with a big district win over Carlisle County and a thrilling last second victory over Trenton Peabody.

The home wins upped the Pilots season record to (5-7) overall, and (2-1) in district play.

The team now participates in the First Region All-A Classic being held at Paducah Tilghman High School.

The Pilots won their second district game of the year, and first at home in two years, with the 14 point win over the Comets.

After trailing 15-13 at the end of the first quarter, the Pilots took a 22-20 advantage on a 3-point shot by Aaron Allen, which was then stretched to a 35-28 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Joe Holman gave the Pilots their biggest lead of the night, when he hit a shot in the paint for a 45-34 edge.

Coach Mitchell Williamson's team then continued a steady offensive output in the final period, which ended with Fulton County's holding their biggest lead of the game at the buzzer.

Following the game, Coach Williamson called the game "huge" for the team.

"This was what we needed, a game where we executed on offense, hit our free throws and played a tough zone. We were able to get steals off of our defense and hit our free throws late to hold on. We went to a six man game tonight, and everybody played well."

Freshman Davis Major led the Pilots with 18 points, with Steven Roberson and Devontae Hampton each adding 12 points.

Octavious Smith added 9, Joe Holman scored 8 and Aaron Allen had 6.

Noah Norsworthy was the high scorer for Carlisle County with 16 points.

In undoubtedly their most exciting game this season, two free throws by senior guard Octavious Smith, with 2.6 seconds to play, gave the Pilots their third straight win.

The night saw Fulton County playing catch-up basketball against the Golden Tide for the better part of the four quarters, but a "never say die" approach in the final moments preserved the win.

After trailing at the end of the first quarter, 10-5, Fulton County took a 26-25 advantage into the intermission.

The Tennesseans came out strong for the second half and garnered their biggest lead of the game, 42-33, with 1:33 in the third period.

Coach Mitchell Williamson's team then began to pick away at the lead, closing the gap to 42-40 on a Davis Major shot early in the fourth quarter.

Major again strung the nets for the Pilots to tie the game at 48-48, setting up a wild finish in the end.

After the Tide went back on top, 50-48, Major connected on one-of-two from the charity stripe to trail 50-49.

Three straight trips on the offensive end for Fulton County, with less than one minute to play, yielded no points, until Smith was fouled under the basket with 2.6 on the clock.

The senior then drained both shots to bring the large Pilots crowd into a frenzy.

Trenton was then called for a lane violation on the inbounds play, and the Pilots preserved the win.

"I just told myself that I have to hit these shots for the team," said a smiling Octavious Smith following his winning free throws. "We wanted to go into the All-A (tournament) with a win. This feels good. I'm just glad we won."

Coach Mitchell Williamson also echoed the same excitement for his teams 5th win of the year.

"We needed a close win and we needed to hit free throws late in the game. We got both tonight," said the coach. "We came out flat, but we just kept plugging and playing defense. We forced turnovers which turned into points. This was big. Now we go into the All-A on a three game streak."

Steven Roberson led the Pilots with 13 points, followed by 12 for Octavious Smith and 11 for Davis Major.

Joe Holman added 6, Steven Roberson 5, Devontae Hampton 3 and Aaron Allen 2.

Trenton Peabody was led on the night by Mathew Pickard with 18 points.

School board approves 2014-2015 calendar

Charlotte Smith
Editor

The 2014-15 school calendar was presented and adopted on Thursday, Jan. 16 during the school board meeting. The first day of school for students will be August 6 and the last day has been scheduled for May 20.

Currently the school district has used up all five of their snow days. With the staff making up days on January 2, 3, and 9. February 17 is being changed from a professional development day to a school day.

Pa’Trice Chambers presented the Comprehensive District Improvement Plan (CDIP) and each school has their own CSIP (Comprehensive School Improvement Plan). “When test data came out in August we began dissecting the data,” she explained. “That is how we come up with our goals and then from that point we do activities.”

The three main activities being performed to improve the district include:

- District-Wide PLC’s - Bringing both schools together which includes both principals and Chambers, doing the training.

- Student Engagement - We have been working on training and questioning, involving many staff members. Following the questioning the district is checking to make sure the questioning is being included in the teacher lesson plans.
- District-Wide Walkthroughs - Not really new, have been performed before. The new addition is an evaluation is performed within 24 hours of the walkthroughs. The teachers are being informed on what was observed, talking with them on how we can improve.

At the end of January Chambers will be performing a student engagement-training, district wide with the teachers from all three schools. “I think this training will open our teachers’ eyes up to new possibilities,” Chambers said excitedly.

Budget

One way the board is looking to fund the proposed 3% raise increase is by being prudent in other budget areas. “We are using federal monies in a way that will be more advantageous to our general funds and in return, will increase the amount we have in general funds,” explained Supt. Collins. “For example, we have used general funds to fund some professional development when that funding can come out of Title funds. Another example is using federal funds to pay for certified employees instead of using general funds to pay for some employees. We are being more prudent in the way we fund or pay for services and employees that will increase the general funds.”

The delay in presenting a budget draft, stems from a central office employee being terminated in late October 2013. The Kentucky State Police has been investigating a theft after an internal investigation of the possibility of misappropriation and missing funds by a former employee.

At the time of the release, Supt. Collins assured parents, staff and taxpayers that it in no way threatens the operation of the district and/or the delivery of educational services to the students.

“The board has made a very positive statement by setting forth their goals of competitive salary, improving school facilities, and planning for the future,” added Supt. Collins. “I commend the board for their efforts in producing a balanced draft budget that addresses our immediate and future needs.”

With January as School Board Appreciation Month, Supt. Collins paid the board recognition for being unified in their decision-making and ability to work together. “Our vision is all around us,” he said. “Which is Proficiency, Positive Relationships and Pilot Pride.” The two schools hosted a small reception during the Thursday night meeting, echoing their appreciation.
